

Bio

Kristin Salada is a Principal for New Angle Consulting, LLC. She is a leadership development consultant, team coach, and facilitator who has spent 17 years in experience-based learning and group facilitation. She is an expert at helping work groups have conversations that matter and become high performing teams. Kristin's approach is energetic, professional, and personable. She incorporates engaging experiential learning exercises to bring about increased self-awareness and team esteem resulting in improved work performance. She rides her bike each year in the MS-150 to support Multiple Sclerosis research.

Kristin Salada

New Angle Consulting, LLC

www.newangleconsulting.com

Sunnyvale, CA 408-498-5551

Professional Background:

Kristin has consulted with clients in effective communication, team and leadership development, conflict resolution, decision-making, strategic planning, building networking relationships, managing change, shaping culture, and 'train the trainer'. Her background includes work experience as a Manager of Marketing, a National Sales & Delivery Manager for a wilderness-based professional development firm, and a Site Director for an outdoor center serving urban youth.

Other Relevant Experience:

- Developing and delivering leadership curriculum for managers and executives in corporate universities in the following industries: defense, food & beverage, and steel manufacturing.
- Teaching "High Performance Management" and "Building High Performance Teams" as Adjunct Faculty at the Daniels College of Business and Pioneer Leadership Program at the University of Denver.
- Coaching engineers and MBA students on the development of their interpersonal, presentation, and leadership skills.
- Key Clients have included Microsoft, Nissan North America, TIAA-CREF, athenahealth, Hult International Business School, Denver Public Schools Chief Academic Officer team, Coors, Dunkin' Brands, Allianz Global Risks IT, and VolunteerMatch.com.

Education/Professional Qualifications:

- B.S. in Communication Studies & Spanish – Northwestern University
- M.S.M. in Organizational Communication & Training – Daniels College of Business at the University of Denver
- Certification: Program Leader for Best Year Yet® Individual Coaching and Team Programs
- Qualification: Myers-Briggs Type Indicator assessment
- Qualification: Thomas-Kilmann (TKI) Conflict assessment
- Qualification: FIRO-B (Fundamental Interpersonal Relationship Orientation and Behavior) assessment